

Council election to be held April 18, 19

VINCE SALVO

Vince Salvo plans SC enlargement

Vince Salvo, a history-education major from Queens, N.Y., is campaigning for Student Council president.

President of the Young Christian Students, secretary of the Courier club, and a member of the History and Sociology clubs, Salvo has had an active career in extracurricular fields during his three years at St. Joe.

During last spring's Mock Democratic Convention, Salvo was chairman of the New York delegation. In 1957-58, he was national president of the YCS.

Salvo views the office of Student Council president "not as a privilege, but as a responsibility to the students and the college."

He has plans for enlarging the Council, and giving those student officers with responsibility a vote on the Council.

His method would increase the number of votes on the Council from nine at the present time to 24.

"Before you can have enthusiasm and spirit, said Salvo, you have to have interest and participation."

He would also like to see separate mixers for the freshmen.

Batholomy seeks better relations

Pat Bartholomy, a junior English major from Ft. Wayne, Ind., is one of two candidates for the secretary spot on next year's Student Council.

In his freshman year, Bartholomy was academic editor of Phase, the college yearbook, and class representative to the National Federation of Catholic College Students.

He is now secretary of the Ft. Wayne club and is working on the upcoming Regina concert.

"In running for the office of secretary of the Student Council," said Bartholomy, "I favor a system which will necessitate more cooperation between the officers

PAT BARTHOLOMY of the Council."

He also hopes to see all the minor hall problems directed by a special committee in order to reduce the amount of time which such problems consume at the regular Council meeting. This time saved could be devoted to "the important problems that the Council is set up to handle."

"Finally, I am a firm advocate of my slogan 'student government for the student body,' "declared Bartholomy.

DENNY MUDD

Mudd asks change in prefect system

Dennis Mudd, junior candidate for Student Council president, is a business-finance major from Skokie, Illinois.

He is a member of the disciplinary committee, the Monogram club and the Chicago club. He is also a prefect and was chairman of this year's faculty-Monogram game.

Mudd wants to achieve greater unity between faculty, Student Council and student body. He proposes to have more student opinion brought into Council decisions so that the majority opinion will prevail.

Mudd proposes to make the appointment of student prefects a Council function, thus giving the Council better contact with the student body and bringing minor rule infractions under the jurisdiction of the Council and the student disciplinary committee.

Another part of Mudd's proposed program is the enlarging of the student disciplinary committee from six to nine members, including three sophomores.

Mudd has expressed the belief that the present SC constitution is woefully inadequate and, if elected, plans to revise the constitution to correct these inadequacies.

Trapp stresses student unity

Ray Trapp, candidate for secretary of the Student Council, is a living example of his philosophy that students should be active in school affairs outside the classroom.

In charge of this year's senior prom, Ray has worked on Frosh-Soph hops, Tower dances, jazz concerts, and homecoming decorations. As a sophomore he helped to change the Frosh initiation.

A member of the Chicago club and the S. A. M., Ray is also one of the Columbian Players. This year he directed "The Cathedral", the St. Joe entry in the one act play festival at St. Mary-of-the-

RAY TRAPP

Woods.

"I would like to see," he said, "more student participation in various student activities, such as pep rallies, homecoming decorations, and Student Council meetings. I believe that this can be done only by a unified student body that is working for everyone's betterment, a student body which is held together by an active Student Council."

Ray proposes a change in the Student Council committees to allow more students to express their views.

BOB HADALA

Orderly meetings sought by Hadala

Robert Hadala, an accounting major from Joliet, Ill., and a candidate for president of the Student Council, is probably recognized by the majority of the student body as one of the men behind the Rec hall counter. But he has also been active in a number of other extracurricular activities.

Being a member of the Athletic Committee of the Student Council he is already familiar with Student Council affairs.

Always active in St. Joe's dances, he worked on the Frosh-Soph-hop in his freshman year, the Tower Dance last year, and is now on the Prom Committee.

Full of ideas, Bob had this to say about the Student Council meetings: "I would like to see the revamping of the Student Council meetings. That is, more order and an attempt at a better turnout by the student body. This is the student body's Council. The meetings are a time to explain their gripes."

Noting the students' lack of participation in athletic affairs, he said, "pep rallies seemed to be quite a flop this year. More organization is needed at these."

Andorfer runs for SC veep post

Paul Andorfer, sophomore biology major, is at present the sole candidate for Student Council vice-president.

Andorfer, a native of Ft. Wayne and a graduate of Marmion high school, Aurora, Ill., has been president of his class for the past two years. He is also a two year member of both the Ft. Wayne club and the track squad.

As class president he organized this year's initiation, plus two dances. Over the coming summer he will be working on a plan for piping music into the cafeteria.

Andorfer said, "If I should be elected, beyond my duties as vice-president, I intend to make it a point to co-ordinate all of the activities of the Council. I will also aim at unification of the whole student body by publicizing all activities of the Council on a special bulletin board."

He also proposed a monthly panel discussion of Council affairs in the auditorium. He said that this, followed by a floor discussion by students, would give the student body an actual voice in pertinent Council questions.

300 girls to perform in musical, variety and choral shows at SJC

By BILL HART

Nearly 300 of the fairer sex will adorn the St. Joseph campus this weekend, most of whom will participate in the scheduled variety and choral shows. The young ladies from Regina high school in Cincinnati, O., will present an evening of musical and satirical entertainment in the college auditorium on Saturday at 8:00 p.m., and the sixth annual Indiana Catholic College Choral Festival will top off the weekend at 2:30 Sunday afternoon in the college fieldhouse.

Besides the St. Joseph College Glee Club, the other choruses in the Sunday festival will include Marian College, Indianapolis; St. Francis College, Fort Wayne; St. Mary-of-the-Woods College, Terre Haute; and St. Mary's College, Notre Dame.

All the girls will arrive Saturday and will be available not only to entertain Pumas on stage, but also off stage, at the mixer which will follow the Regina program.

The Regina girls, who have traditionally performed here, will sing, depict scenes and use various stage props to add color to their show. Previously they have "brought the house down" with their showmanship, and this year's program should prove to be no exception.

The college choral festival will feature a short group of selections by each of the participating glee clubs. They will all combine, under the direction of Fr. Lawrence Heiman, C.P.P.S., to present "The Drinking Song" from Romberg's Student Prince and "Let My People Go."

The program will be climaxed with Bruckner's "Te Deum," in which the 280 voice chorus will be accompanied by a 42 piece Indiana Catholic College Orchestra.

The guest concert mistress will be Florence Gindl, concert mistress of the Gary Symphony Orchestra.

Lulewicz running for SC treasurer

The only candidate for the office of treasurer, John Lulewicz is a marketing major from Chicago. John has led an active life on Campus.

In the academic line he belongs to the Engineering club and to S. A. M. He is also a member of the Columbian Players.

On the social side he is a member of the Chicago club and Camera club, and has worked on various dance committees including this year's Prom.

He was the vice-president of his class in his sophomore year and is now a member of the Student Council Disciplinary Board. He is also active in intramural activities.

He has definite ideas for the improvement of the Student Council. Foremost of these is "reconstruction of the Student Council to suit increased enrollment, and the delegation of more authority to the Athletic Committee."

Other things he would like to see brought about are "a better organized orientation program and the stimulation of club interest in all campus activities in order to have greater student activity."

Vince Salvo's background, policies make him best prepared to improve SC-student relations

A Student Council election presents to the student body an opportunity to assess its present relationship with its student government, and, if this relationship is found lacking, to improve it.

This opportunity is one which the St. Joe campus sorely needs. To say that the present student body-Student Council relationship on this campus needs improvement is to understate a serious problem.

It is true that the Council-student relationship is better now than it has been in the past. But this year a combination of occasional Council ineffectiveness and perpetual student indifference have resulted in little or no improvement of a situation which requires tremendous improvement.

A good deal of the blame lies with the students. This year's Council meetings have seen woefully poor attendance. Students decry the "do nothing" Council, but fail to show up at meetings to suggest actions for the Council. Students complain of lack of publicity of Council dealings, but fail to read or else simply criticize what is written. Students who do not recognize the Council officers when they see them constantly deride the efforts of the Council.

On the other hand, the Council itself, while it has several accomplishments to its credit, is not entirely blameless. They spent weeks dickering with Delta Epsilon Sigma over control of the tutoring program, while the first semester went down the drain for many students whom tutoring might have aided. Only three mixers and one jazz concert have been held on the campus all year. Several Council meetings have been marked by nothing more progressive than a personal argument or two, and a few funny stories.

An effective Council-student relationship requires conscientious effort by both groups. If the Student Council is to become a truly representative body, solving student problems, arranging student activities, suggesting student action, the student body must be aware of, interested in, and, most importantly, enthusiastic about the Council.

But this optimum position can be attained only when the Student Council is sincerely concerned for the welfare of the students, when it is willing to undergo change for the cause of a better college, and when it is determined to make itself available and serviceable to the students who elected it.

Effective student government is a two-way street.

All three candidates for Council president, Bob Hadala, Denny Mudd, and Vince Salvo, have expressed concern over the present situation and declared that closer Council-student cooperation is necessary. While not questioning the ability or intent of the other two candidates, STUFF believes that Vince Salvo is better prepared by background, and by his stated policies, to lead the Council effectively, and to produce a more fruitful Council-student relationship.

In 1957-58 Salvo served as national president of the Young Christian Students, and YCS is one of several campus groups with which he is affiliated.

Salvo is secretary of the Courier club. He joined this club, which aids visitors on campus, because he believes in the future of the college and hopes to assure the high quality of future St. Joe students.

To Salvo, the office of Student Council president is another means to further the progress of the college. He thinks of the office not as a privilege, but rather as a duty, a responsibility to the entire student body, and a means to improve the college for the future.

The most concrete and logical candidate plan for improving Council-student relations is that devised by Salvo. His plan is to enlarge the Council, thus making it more representative, and to give votes on the Council to those with responsibility, thus making it more vital.

According to Salvo's plan, votes on the Council will go to the four Council officers, the president and vice-president of each class, and to the representative of the academic clubs, social clubs, scholastic committee, dance committee, and athletic committee. In addition, each hall representative will receive one-fourth vote.

This plan will increase the total votes on the Council to 24, as compared to nine at present. Salvo hopes that this plan will generate better feeling and more reciprocal interest between the student body and the Council.

In a further attempt to bring about better relations, Salvo advocates meetings of the Council members during the week between regular meetings, to discuss a tentative agenda for the next meeting. The agenda will then be publicized so that students involved may plan to attend the next week's meeting.

In conjunction with this idea, Salvo hopes to emphasize the importance of the hall representative as a person through whom suggestions and complaints can be placed before the Council by any student. This shows Salvo's interest in the students' welfare, and his desire to work with and for them as much as possible.

The formation of an athletic committee, representing both varsity and intramural sports, is another change which Salvo wishes to make in the structure of the Council. He believes this committee will deal effectively with athletic affairs in a liaison capacity between the Council and administration, and free the treasurer, whose job now includes this responsibility, for his other functions.

In the belief that this campus sorely needs closer ties between the students and their Council, and in the belief that of the three candidates for president Vince Salvo is best prepared and best able, through the plans outlined above, to bring about this goal, STUFF advocates the election of Vince Salvo for president of the 1961-62 St. Joe Student Council.

Jim Sullivan named as 'Man of Month'

By CHARLES J. SCHUTTROW

James P. Sullivan, senior philosophy major from River Forest, Ill., has been elected STUFF's Man of the Month for March.

Jim teamed with Tony Freeland in writing, directing, and casting a 25-minute play for the Talent Show, held last March 15 in the college auditorium.

JIM SULLIVAN

He is chairman of the Welfare Committee, which sets up masses for deceased relatives of students and faculty members, runs errands for students in the infirmary, such as collecting their mail and getting things they need from their rooms, and performs many other campus good-will activities.

Jim was a vital factor in the renewal of the coffee hour last September, which had been discontinued for a year. Jim originated the idea of circulating handbills before the coffee hour begins with questions on them designed to channel discussions into interesting, constructive areas.

Jim is also the director of the Purdue trips program. Under the program, buses are provided for freshmen and sophomores (juniors and seniors may drive cars), who attend Purdue's Elliot Hall of Music where they observe various plays and musical presentations.

Other activities in which March's Man of the Month has or is now participating are: he was Lyndon Johnson's campaign manager in last year's mock convention; he was on the debate team for two years; he is presently leading the designing of a fourth floor "chapter room" in Drexel hall; and he is now in his second year as a student prefect.

Puma reflections

By JOHN B. GRIFFIN

The up-and-coming Student Council elections should prove very intriguing. The top spot on the Council was copped last year by the candidate who distributed sample packs of cigarettes and free ice cream to campus voters . . . which makes me wonder what will be the inducement this year.

Ohioans have been promised a bigger and better basketball team for Ohio State while those Chicago voters are being convinced that Art Hicks got a raw deal and that the Cubs are sure to come around this year.

Full color 8 by 10 photos of the UN building have been given all foreign students and more free trips to Puerto Rico have been listed as a possibility.

The Navigato's, DiCianni's, and the Pandola's have been assured that not all the gangsters in the "20's" were Italians. One candidate has even promised leniency for Adolf Eichmann though it seems that this might be difficult to deliver.

If certain requirements are fulfilled we may expect many innovations in our student government. Lets try to envision a few.

Since Mr. Salvo is running for president of the Council and is also teetering on the brink of matrimony, his election might usher in a new era in St. Joseph political history.

We may even be blessed with our first First Family. The Lettermen's club may even be called into service to guard the First Lady on any shopping trips she may take.

If Mr. Mudd were elected over Mr. Salvo maybe the Lettermen's club would become a strong lobbying faction on the council. Who knows? Maybe a law requiring attendance at all home football games would be passed.

Bob Hadala has thrown his political hat into the ring and is reported to be running on his ability as a grill man and malt maker in the Rec hall. He may have the inside track if hamburgers can be given to the entire student body.

Sudden Thought: American Political History has long been a game of "Buck Passing" but at Pumaville the Buck has to be passed to the student who wants something for nothing.

So bring on the Dixie Cups and forget the handshaking. Oh, and may the best man win.

So you went 12 innings and gave up one earned run but still lost to DePauw. You can't expect all the breaks Tony Pacenti.

Another coming election will be a contest to find the most popular mass commentators on campus. The culprits who missed their first few assignments are way out front in the early voting.

Conference preview: DePauw is tough

Indiana Collegiate Conference baseball teams face some prominent collegiate powers this year, such as Louisiana State, Cincinnati, Louisville, Notre Dame, and several Big Ten schools.

Ball State plays the biggest schedule with 24 games against such teams as Purdue, Indiana, Illinois, and Western Michigan. Indiana State, St. Joseph's, and DePauw all have 23-game slates.

Valparaiso, defending conference champs, lost 1960 ICC MVP Tom Orton but have leading ICC hitter (.452) junior outfielder Jack Todhunter and pitcher Barry Bruckner back as a nucleus.

Runner-up DePauw will have six starters and three regular pitchers from their 12-5 team which advanced to the NCAA College Division Midwest Regional finals in Springfield, O., last year. The Tigers strength figures to lie in their pitching staff and their better-than-average hitting, led by the conference's 1960 number two hitter Dave Clifford.

Nine returning lettermen are back for the third place Ball State Cardinals including all-ICC selections Dean Campbell and Mike Nixon. Pitcher-third baseman Campbell hit .388 while winning five and losing two last year. Nixon led the conference with an

Trio named to lead '61 Pumas

Tackle Dennis Mudd, guard Tom Buscarini, and quarterback Dave Beam have been elected to serve as co-captains for the 1961 Puma football squad.

The naming of next season's captains, along with the annual intra-squad game on March 25, marked the end of spring practice for the football Pumas, now under the direction of new head coach Ed Dwyer.

In the intra-squad game, colorful Ray Knight and Norb Daigle coached a Red team to a 6-0 victory over a White team coached by Ray Regner. Coach Dwyer observed the action from the stands.

Freshman fullback Jim Truba plunged from the two yard line in the third quarter to score the only touchdown of the game and give the Red squad their victory.

Mudd, Buscarini, and Beam all won letters last season as juniors. The 220 pound Mudd was a starting tackle the entire season, and developed into one of the finest downfield blockers in the Indiana Collegiate Conference. A native of Skokie, Ill., Mudd did not play any high school football.

Neither Buscarini nor Beam was a constant starter for the Pumas last season, but both served a frequent and capable substitutes. Buscarini, a native of Chicago and a graduate of St. George high school, came to St. Joseph's in 1957 and played two years under Bob Jauron. After dropping out of college a year, he returned last semester to complete his education and bolster the middle of the Puma line.

Quarterback Beam is a native of Louisville and a graduate of Flaget high school. Last season, as an understudy to Midwest All-Catholic College quarterback Ralph Gardner Beam completed eight passes in 26 attempts.

earned run average of 1.13 and won three out of four conference starts.

Despit the loss of several key men from the 1960 roster, an unusually strong crop of sophomores plus the services of last year's top hurler, Gary Sproat, should strengthen Indiana State's Sycamores' baseball chances.

Second base will again be filled by 1960 all-conference choice Bobby Clements, while last season's second team ICC third base selection Larry Crabb will move to the outfield.

"We could be tough, if our sophomore pitchers come through," says St. Joseph's coach Jim Holstein in summing up this season's prospects. Two returning pitchers, Bob Dougherty and Jim Moyer, are back; but the St. Joe mentor will be looking to soph hurlers Art Voellinger and Jim Hunt to alleviate the mound burden this year.

Five returning starters and three outstanding soph outfield prospects may be the key which could unlock a successful season for Coach Tony Hinkle's Butler Bulldogs, sixth-place finishers last year.

John Skirchak, Bill Stafford, Don Carr, and Gary Green are tabbed as the best returning hitters, while Jerry Milhouse and Bud Gremel are labeled the best pitching prospects. John Woody, Floyd Edwards, and Don Baird are the three standout sophomores.

Evansville, last season's cellar-dwellers, have five of their starters back this year. Don Folz, Ed Uhde, Dwight Tapley, Larry Duncan, and Don Schwartz singled out as the best hitters. A battery combination of pitcher Walte Henry and catcher Ed Rocek are outstanding soph prospects.

Intramural Scoreboard

The Bennett Flyers repeated as intramural basketball champions this year by dumping the freshman Seifert 5 Plus 5, 80-56, to cop the 1960-1961 title in the fieldhouse on Thursday, March 23. More than 300 fans, mostly seniors and freshmen, were on hand for the game.

Both teams played a running game from beginning to end. The 5 Plus 5 held on to a close lead through the first quarter with Leo Flanagan giving the commendable freshman cheering section something to cheer about with his razzle-dazzle ball handling and drive-in lay-ups.

Each of the starting five for the freshmen contributed to the Seifert attack, but the Flyers, assisted by Fritz Dunderman's 14 points in the first half, were not to be outdone and moved to a 36-29 lead as the half ended.

In the second half the Flyers' experience and control of the boards took their toll. The 5 Plus 5's shooting average dropped and Bennett balanced out its team scoring on successive fast breaks.

The big difference in the game and especially in the second half was the rebounding, scoring, and defensive play of the Flyers' Bill Fischer, who netted 22 points and held the number one scorer in intramurals, Lynn Weber, to four points.

Weber had been averaging 28 points per game during the regular season, although he was not passed the ball in this final contest anywhere near as much as was expected by many spectators.

Flanagan took top scoring honors with 30 points, including 10 free throws out of 11 attempts. Dunderman was third with 20 points.

Both teams played basically man-to-man defenses, with the Flyers collapsing heavily on the middle to gang up on anyone coming that way. The boxscore follows:

SEIFERT 5 PLUS 5				BENNETT FLYERS

All-ICC awards released; Wise is league MVP

Al Whitlow, jumping jack forward on this year's Puma cage squad, was honored by being placed on the second team of the 1960-61 All-ICC basketball team.

Whitlow, a 6-2 senior from Michigan City, Ind., was the only St. Joe player on the annual all-star selections.

This year's first team was the youngest in the history of the league, being composed of two juniors, two sophomores, and only one senior.

Top vote-getter in the balloting was Evansville's big Dale Wise. The 6-4 Purple Ace was this season's top scorer and rebounder in the ICC. Wise was also selected on last year's All-ICC team.

Both sophomores on the first team are from Butler's ICC championship team. They are Gerry Williams (5-8), and Tom Bowman (6-4). Gerry is the brother of St. Joe's Bobby Williams, who was selected to the all-star team twice when he played for the Pumas.

The two juniors on the first team are DePauw's Dale Anderson (6-0), and Indiana State's Howard Dardeen (6-4).

Selected to the second team along with Whitlow are Valpo's Jim Zweifel (5-10), and Chuck Kriston (6-2), DePauw's Herb Spier (6-5), and Ball State's Mike Readnour (6-3).

Dale Wise of Evansville was also voted Most Valuable Player in the league. He won by a landslide margin over his nearest rival, Gerry Williams of Butler.

ICC basketball Coach - of - the Year honors went to Butler's Paul "Tony" Hinkle, who took his young, inexperienced team and piloted it to the conference championship. Hinkle also received the Coach-of-the-Year award in football this year.

Cincy, DePauw trip SJ nine; Knights fall

After dropping their two opening games to the University of Cincinnati, the Puma batsmen came back to trample Marian Wednesday afternoon April 5. Leading the way for St. Joe were Al Whitlow and El Eschman with five hits apiece, followed by J. C. Crowley with four.

Saturday April 8, the Pumas dropped a double-header to DePauw at Greencastle in their first ICC baseball clash of the season.

Although sophomore Tony Pacenti pitched one of the finest ball games turned in by a St. Joe pitcher in recent years, the Tigers managed to squeak by in both games of the encounter by one run.

Pacenti went the distance of 12 innings in the first game giving up only three runs and eight hits. Geiss, the winning pitcher, gave up five hits for two runs, and contributed three hits to his own cause.

The Pumas fought DePauw to a 2-2 stand-off until the Tigers managed to capitalize on two Puma errors for their winning run.

In the second game of the twin bill the Joemen started off the second inning with a scoring burst of six runs. The Tigers finally came up with an effective combination to hold St. Joe scoreless for the last innings of the game while DePauw pulled ahead 11-10. The Pumas lost two games to Cincinnati by scores of 14-5 and 10-3.

Al Whitlow hit a two-run homer in the first inning of the first game to highlight the Puma attack. Behind the five hit pitching of Lemma and Harp, Cincinnati combined 14 hits and five Puma errors to gain a 14-5 victory.

This was the first time the Pumas had played outside due to the inclement weather.

In the second game the Pumas were held to three hits by Paul of Cincinnati, who went the distance. Al Whitlow hit another two-run homer to lead the Puma attack, this time in the fifth inning. Cincinnati, led by Heffron who had four hits, pounded out a total of eleven hits in gaining their victory 10-3.

Puma golfers down Purdue Ext.; tennis team beaten at Marian

St. Joe's broke even in minor sports action over the week-end, with the Puma golf team defeating Purdue Extension 9-6 and the tennis team losing to Marian 6-1.

The golf team took their match with senior Denny Hershberger beating his man 3-0, Jim "Buzz" Klingele winning 2½-½, and Chuck Naylon out-shooting his opponent 2½-½. Ralph Kenville and Larry McKay were beaten by scores of 1-2 and 0-3 respectively. The golf team's next match will be at Navy Pier on April 13.

The tennis team, however, didn't fare as well, losing to Marian 6-1. The team's only winner was senior Bob Gallivan who defeated his man in sets of 6-1 and 6-3.

In other singles matches, St. Joe's Al Nett lost to Vince Henn 6-2, 6-0. John Zid was beaten by Marian's Tom Netzel 6-3, 6-2; Skip Holland for St. Joe was defeated 6-1, 6-2 by Joe Raesnoff, and John Sorg lost 6-0, 6-0 to Marian's Bill Daley.

In the doubles matches, Sorg and Zid were beaten 6-0, 6-0 by Raesnoff and Netzel of Marian, and Nett and Holland of St. Joe lost to Henn and Daley 6-0, 8-6.

Coach Ray Regner said the team looked decent, but their main problem was lack of outside practice. The team will play at Butler on Monday, April 17.

Fr. Maziarz is president of honor group

Fr. Edward A. Maziarz, C.P.P.S., academic dean of St. Joseph's, was named national president of Delta Epsilon Sigma, national scholastic honor society, on April 5.

The term of the position is two years. Fr. Maziarz succeeded Fr. William E. O'Donnell, dean of the College of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn.

Delta Epsilon Sigma was founded in 1939 for the purpose of recognizing academic accomplishments and fostering scholarly activities in Catholic colleges and universities.

The Society has chapters on 85 Catholic campuses throughout the country and its membership totals more than 6,000.

Dr. William E. Hartnett, assistant professor of mathematics at the College of the Holy Cross in Worcester, Mass., was elected to succeed Fr. Maziarz as national vice-president.

48 SJ students on Dean's List

Forty-eight students were placed on the Dean's List for the mid-term grading period of the second semester of the school year. These students have attained an index of 3.50 or better.

Sociology club to stage talk

A discussion of the controversial "population explosion" will be sponsored by the Sociology club on Wednesday, April 19, in the cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. All students, faculty members and townspeople are invited.

Vince Salvo, director of the discussion program, said that the discussion will begin with presentations of the problem as viewed by philosophy, economics, sociology, theology and political science.

Bill Cormack, John Conlon, Roberta Nadeau, Jim Sullivan, and Dave Beran will present the problem as seen by each of the previously mentioned fields, Salvo said.

Prom bids now on sale; Gingiss here April 18; Les Brown band to play

By JOE BOTON

It's Prom time! Bids for "Medieval Moods" went on sale last Monday at $10.00 per couple. This includes admission to both dances, revels and the Prom, corsages, and favors.

Bids are being sold in the cafeteria and may also be purchased from Ray Trapp, Noll 206. Room accommodations may also be made at this time.

Gingiss Brothers will be on campus Tuesday, April 18, from 2 to 7 p.m., to measure juniors and seniors for formalwear.

Complete rental price for the formalwear is $7.60 plus $1.00 if the formal shirt and jewelry is desired.

The prom will be strictly formal, but it has been suggested that the girls wear dinner or cocktail dresses because of the limited space.

The George Fischer sextet will provide the musical background for "Revels," which will be held Friday, April 29 from 9 p.m. until who knows when.

"Medieval Moods," theme of the Prom, will feature Les Brown and his Band of Renown, and will be presented on Saturday, April 29, from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

The front entrance of Raleigh hall will be transformed into the facade of a medieval castle, complete with drawbridge.

Dr. Pike to lecture on 'Decline of U.S. Prestige in Latin America'

Frederick B. Pike, assistant professor of history at the University of Notre Dame, will present a lecture on "The Decline of United States Prestige in Latin America," on Wednesday, April 19, in the college cafeteria at 8:00 p.m.

Dr. Pike is the holder of a Doherty Foundation grant which enabled him to conduct research in Chile on "U.S.-Chilean Relations Since 1880."

He is president of the Mid-West Council, Association for Latin American Studies, a group made up of the Latin Americanists in a 14 state area.

Dr. Pike traveled in the summer and fall of 1960 through 12 of the Latin American countries, and spent two weeks in Cuba interviewing persons of various political affiliations.

He is the author of a dozen articles on various aspects of Latin American history and U.S.-Latin American affairs that have been published in this country, in Chile, and in Spain.
